The basic school Na Slovance, i.e. primary and lower secondary level, is affiliated to Charles University in Prague, Faculty of Education. The school provides education according to its own educational programme “School open for all”.

Foreign language teaching is introduced in the 3rd year of the school attendance, i.e. at the age of 8. Younger pupils can attend foreign language clubs. Foreign language instruction can be extended through optional subjects. The second foreign language is introduced at the age of 13.

The school uses streaming for the mother tongue, English and mathematics.

All pupils have access to the Internet and the school library.
